Reference(s):

Education Code Section 72400
Title 5 Section 53200

The Rancho Santiago Community College District is organized into three main units comprised of Santa Ana College, Santiago Canyon College and central District Operations. Although the District Operations unit is housed in a location separate from the two colleges, some employees and centrally-managed District services are deployed at the college campuses.

Any change to the organizational structure at one of the colleges or District operations is subject to approval by the Chancellor. Organizational changes are subject to review by the appropriate college participatory governance council or District Council prior to consideration by the Chancellor.
