

Autism Spectrum Disorders

Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and autism are both general terms for a group of complex disorders of brain development associated with intellectual disability, difficulties in motor coordination and attention and physical health issues in children. Health Advocate put this flyer together to let parents know of the many ways we can assist with ASD-related services.

Tips for parents affected by ASD

If you have a son or daughter living with ASD there is a lot you can do to support your child.

Look for ASD friendly doctors, dentists, and hair dressers

Find fun community support groups and day camps for your child

Learn if your insurance plan has coverage for ASD and related services

Stay up-to-date on ASD news and government regulations

Health Advocate can help

If you have a child with autism or suspect that your child may have autism a Personal Health Advocate can help:

- ✓ Find the right doctors and specialists and schedule appointments
- ✓ Research in-home care and school- and community-based services
- ✓ Identify leading treatment centers
- ✓ Answer questions about your insurance plan, test results, treatments and medications

Help is Only a Phone Call Away

866.799.2728

Email: answers@HealthAdvocate.com
Web: HealthAdvocate.com/members

HealthAdvocate™
Always at your side