

Santa Ana College Transfers to the Universities 2010-2011 through 2014-2015

August 2015

One of RSCCD's major missions as a community college is to transfer students to four-year schools. The RSCCD Research Department uses the National Student Clearinghouse, an electronic registry containing over 197 million student records from more than 3,600 colleges and hundreds of high school districts nationwide, to obtain these transfer data. For purposes of this factsheet, only "first time" transfers to a particular college segment (CSU, UC, Private, or out-of-state) are considered.

- In school year 2014-15, 2,123 students transferred from Santa Ana College (SAC) to both public and private universities, in and outside California.
- Overall, SAC experienced an increase in transfers to four-year universities compared to the prior year (7 percentage point increase).
- There is a shift in ethnic breakdown of SAC transfer students:
 - Latino students comprise the largest group of SAC's transfers (42%) followed by White students (23%).
 - White transfer students dropped considerably (-14 percentage point) compared to the 2010-11 transfers; conversely, the percentage of Latino transfer students increased by ten percentage points.
 - Asian students maintain 13% percent of the transfers.
- CSU Fullerton continues to top the list of most-popular destinations for SAC transfer students (28%). Other popular CSUs include: CSU Long Beach (7%) and CSU Dominguez Hills (4%).
- UC Irvine (5%), UC San Diego and UC Santa Barbara (each 1%) are popular choices for UC campuses.
- Columbia Southern University (5%), National University (4%) and Union Institute & University (3%) are the preferred private universities.
- More than one-third (38%) of transfer students earned AA/AS degrees prior to transferring.
 - Liberal arts graduates account for the highest number of transfers to four-year institutions followed by nursing, business and fire technology.
 - On average, these graduate-transfer students completed 47 units upon transferring.
